t's officially the summer and King Charles is officially our King!! Hoorah Hussar!! Has everyone got their BBQs, suncream and parasols at the ready for a flaming June after a somewhat sketchy spring, weather wise? I'm putting up my pool in slight trepidation this year, and that's not to including the headache that is the battle against the algae, bugs and burning skin with an unsafe quantity of chlorine! (- suggestions to the editor on that one!)

In this edition we have a new mind your own business from local couple at 'Marlin Mechanical' on page 32 and a brilliant history spot from regular Graham McDougal on page 26. There's another recipe and restaurant review on the 'sweet & savoury' on page 16 and of course the quiz-queen has done it again on page 22!

We've sadly come to the end of the 'then and nows' after several brilliant years of comparisons kindly compiled and written by David Hunt, so we've shaken things up a bit and added a 'past times' inspired by a handwritten letter received 'to the editor' from Joan Lindsey on page 55. And David has kindly written a brilliant meet the villager/past times hybrid for us on page 53 so get comfy, get a cup of tea (or even a pint if you're reading this at the Tap) and have a good 'ole read!!

Well that's all from me and the team until August - please keep sending in your news, views (and shoes if you must) because without your input I have nothing to output and the newsletter will simply cease to be.

Hullavington Celebrates the Coronation of King Charles III

St Mary Magdalene Church

he Coronation Weekend started at church with the Friday Coffee Shop with a full church and lots of people enjoying coffee/tea and cake. They were joined by members of our Little Lights group and their parents.

Sunday saw a well attended Coronation Celebration Service followed by a special tree planting with Helen Davies taking the service. The tree was planted by junior members of the church ably assisted by many Parishioners who helped fill in the hole. The tree chosen was an llex Golden King, a non prickly holly.

Holiday Monday saw the Coronation Hub take place in church with lots of people celebrating the Coronation together. Coffee and cake followed by lunch was the order of the day, and lunch included Coronation Chicken (of course) plus the new Coronation Quiche created by one of Buckingham Palace Chefs. The usual soup, sausage rolls etc. we're also on the menu

Other news from church - the fundraiser for Brain Tumour Research raised a fantastic £580 so a huge 'thank you' to everyone from the village who contributed.

Eaton Close Party

We had 3 special guests at the Eton close/Royal Field close party. They graced one of the tables all afternoon. They were made by Toni Anne.

... Hullavington Book Group won a box of Vegan Chocolates from 'Buttermilk' for lockdown efforts!

The group was nominated by a member for their efforts to keep reading during lockdown 2021 with the 'Library Pony' and the book 'Giver of Stars' by Jo-Jo Moyes which catapulted them to fame in both local and national television and papers. 'Buttermilk' were so impressed they sent a box full of their tastiest vegan chocolate bars for the group to enjoy with their next read!

... And for World Book Night

The group of reading stalwarts gathered around the Watts Lane bus stop to celebrate

World Book Night on Sunday 23rd

April. We managed to generate some warmth and laughter despite very un-April like weather.

Conversation ranged from books to the dam-busters (Film group extra's offering in May to commemorate the 80th Anniversary of the raid) through lack of phone signal in the village (did anyone get the alarm call?) and would it matter if we didn't?

A very convivial little gathering warmed by tea and excellent cake, thank you Elizabeth and Emma.

It is a part of what makes village living so precious; a disparate group of people connecting over books and enjoying a slightly absurd situation on a cool damp Sunday evening

Thank you, Elizabeth, for suggesting it.

If you have any stories and photographs of village events you have organised or attended please send to editorhullavingtonnews@gmail.com and we can then add them next time!

The Rattlebone—Sherston

The Rattlebone in Sherston is a wonderful village pub. Despite its previous association with Prince Harry this pub retains its warm, homely and relaxed style. It is always busy but not overcrowded, however booking is highly recommended. Having made this pub one of our regular haunts we have never been disappointed. The beer is always popular as it features draft Flying Monk and the wine selection also suits most pallets.

The food is a great mix of pub classics, pie, burger etc. but also more adventurous fair such as venison, pork belly or monkfish. All are beautifully cooked and presented. As the menu does change quite regularly it is worth checking out the website to see the latest version.

It is also worth noting that The Rattlebone has a Tuesday Steak night and a full and varied lunch menu.

The prices are very competitive with other pubs so please give it a whirl I know you will not be disappointed. www.therattlebone.co.uk

Councillors Questions

with Nick Botterill

t is around this time of year that I get a big increase in the number of enquiries from residents.

I have just completed the cycle of annual parish meetings and there are lots of concerns about the state of the roads. Last winter was very bad for the road surfaces, lots of rain followed often very quickly afterwards by sharp frosts – both designed to break up the surfaces many of which were not in a great state to start with. This also followed a dry summer which had led to extra surface cracking. Result, many of our roads are covered in potholes. "Well Nick, what are you going to do about it?" I get asked.

Potholes can't be easily filled during the winter as the tar can just wash away again. As the weather has been improving 6,000 potholes have been addressed, which is roughly double the rate of previous years. Teams are moving around the area doing as many repairs as they can before moving on. Where possible substantial repairs will be made i.e. a whole square of surface replaced, rather than just filling up a hole. If you come across a pothole or damaged section of tarmac and you think it may not have been reported, do use the MyWilts app where it will get formally logged (yes I know some of the automated responses are idiotic and that is something which the IT people are working on!) Alternatively take a photo and email me with the location and I can report it. Over a network totaling thousands of miles of roadway, it is often only by receiving such reports that a clear picture of where to concentrate the repair work can be formed.

Wiltshire Council will be spending all the £20 odd million this year which central government allocates to local road works. However the reality is that in order to get the network back to the sort of state it was in 10 or 20 years ago, additional sums are going to have to be found for planned resurfacing of longer sections of roads. Looking at finding this money and freeing it up for such works without putting additional financial strain on the council's budgets is one of my tasks as cabinet member for finance.

Following quite a damp spring, the roadside verges are also extremely prolific this year. While visibility for road safety is a requirement, most other verges are mowed less frequently than in the past – usually just twice per year. This is in order to preserve bio-diversity; less cutting, and only at certain times of the year, has been shown to promote more diverse flora and fauna as well as potentially help with insect numbers. However if you are aware of any sections of verge which need addressing for safety reasons and which don't seem to have received a cut recently, please let me know.

HULLAVINGTON COMMUNITY GROUP UPDATES

The Hullavington Community Group was formed to share resources between what were (and still are) 5 major projects running within the community: -

• POSH who have been trying for the last number of years to improve the outdoor facilities for the whole community.

• Community Fibre Partnership - making sure we're not left behind as the rest of the country upgrades to Fibre Optic Cable.

• The Wildlife Group - working with outside agencies to bring the Gauze Brook back to life (amongst other things).

The Footpaths Group who both organise walks and work closely with Wiltshire Council to improve them, and the latest project to protect our access to the parishes Rights of Way

It is clear that the aspiration for many villagers is for better outdoor facilities so POSH via the Hullavington Community Group is asking for your help to take another shot at securing it...

If you are keen to see our outdoor facilities improve, please come and join us.

This isn't just about a park for the kids or a sports pitch, this is about securing community owned land that we can all use. How we use that space is a question for the whole village and It must start with the asking of a single question.

What do you want Hullavington to look like in 10 year's time?

Make your point of view heard.

Please join us at a meeting at 7.30pm

On 27th June in the Church

The Annual Parish Meeting - was held on the 13th of April in the church. Sadly, it wasn't very well publicised, but we aim to help the parish council remedy that next year as it would be a shame to lose this ancient tradition that has its origins in Medieval Times.

Below are a sample of the updates that were presented, more can be found in the meeting minutes on the parish council website.

Our Rights of Way - are any of them in danger?

- Rights of Way, as you no doubt know, are routes that the public have a lawful right to use; they range in size from roads to footpaths.
- The Rights of way network that we currently have, has been used for 100's of years, but it wasn't until the mid 1800's that footpaths appeared on maps at all, and even then, they were not officially documented.
- That all changed in 1949 with "The National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act" requiring every County in England and Wales to carry out a survey of public paths and prepare a Definitive Map to document the correct routes.

Fast forward 61 years to 2000

"The Countryside and Rights of Way Act" had a small clause which stated that all Rights of Way must be properly documented prior to 2026 or lose their legal status, as it turns out that "quite a lot" of routes had not been properly documented.

- There was such a huge number of applications the government agreed to alter the timeline and streamline the process.
- The new deadline date of 2031 was announced approximately 4 weeks ago, and this may seem like a long way away, but once submitted the application to correct any mistakes takes on average 4 to 5 years.

One example is the missing section joining Hullavington to Stanton at Stock Wood.

We have started the process of checking our rights of way, so as to make sure none will be lost, and if you're interested helping us please email hullavingtoncommuni-tygroup@gmail.com

Fibre Optic Upgrade Progress

As you probably already know we (Hullavington and Norton) were able to restart the Community Fibre Partnership, which will see our telephony system being upgraded. Openreach had agreed to re-cost and give us a final offer, following our acceptance of this offer, it then had to pass through Openreach's internal governance process.

We're pleased to report that our application for government funding was submitted by Openreach to the BDUK at the Department of Culture Media and Sport on the 14th of March. Having waited its turn in the queue it is now being actively assessed (11th May).

Wildlife - (contact via Hullavington Wildlife Facebook page)

A few facts about the Gauze Brook and its wildlife: In the last 50 years, 38 million birds have vanished from UK skies, 97% of our wildflower meadows have been lost since the 1930s, and a quarter of all our mammals, including water voles and Greater mouse-eared bats, are at risk of extinction.

Locally, in the last 20 years, the water vole has become extinct on our own Gauze Brook.

There are two main monitoring activities underway: Helen Creighton walks the Brook and observes conditions and wildlife and reports back to Wiltshire Wildlife as a Water Guardian. Debbie, with her team of volunteers, monitors river fly species and reports back to the Environment Agency via Bristol Avon River Trust (BART). Both activities are part of the Citizen Science initiative.

The River Fly monitoring activity now has two sites. One downstream of the stream support and one downstream of the water treatment plant. Each gives very different results with the upstream site indicating a pretty sterile environment with frequent failure of achieving the trigger point but richer results downstream of the water plant. These results suggest a more hostile environment upstream, with a variety of potential causes including climate change, drought, wash from fields, erosion of bank shelter, stream as a drainage channel at points, too wide at others leading to sluggish flow and stagnation.

The Hullavington Wildlife Project is working with BART and Wessex Water, with the support of local landowners, to raise funds to make small but significant changes so we can start to reverse the issues with our stream.

The aim is to improve the Gauze Brook into the richer stream of 20 years ago and to reintroduce the lovely water vole and other creatures that were common in years.

HULLAVINGTON PARISH COUNCIL NEWS

Chair of the Parish Council Update

http://www.hullavingtonparishcouncil.org.uk/

A Message from the Chair - Hullavington Parish Council

Key messages were recently released via the Hullavington Parish Council Newsletter #1, http://www.hullavingtonparishcouncil.org.uk/ Parish_Council_Newsletters_44882.aspx

I thought it best to reinforce some of those messages via this newsletter. A downloadable form is available on the website, please let us know how you would like to receive communications from your Parish Council, fill in a form and return by e-mail to the Clerk or myself at the address on the form.

There has been a rise in near-miss incidents but not necessarily reported to Wiltshire Council Highways. The TAP at Bradfield is proving to be very popular, and number of people are walking the C31 between the village and the TAP at Bradfield has increased. Should anyone have a near miss road traffic incident please report it via e-mail to northernhighways@wiltshire.gov.uk rather than My Wilts Reporting. The more reports that go in the greater the opportunity will be for your council to push for a speed reduction covering the C31 crossroads and Bradfield. Please remember, the roads around the village are dangerous, some are single track and very narrow, think before you walk, plan your route, make sure you can always be seen, even if that means you walk with the traffic coming from behind you at times.

Wiltshire Council have just completed a sweep through of the village. We can but keep an eye on things and request a periodic sweep through. Drains and gulley's the next target, no point in cleaning them out before the roads were swept. Some of the drains and gulley's can be cleared by the Parish Steward and others will required traffic control, the list is growing.

Please let us have your ideas for the Watts Lane Raised Garden, the walls have started to crack, your Parish Council cannot take a chance on when the wall will fall over and injure someone. Basic Ideas, rebuild the wall to the same height and backfill, or lower the wall and protect the area with a kerbing style surround and re plant etc. Please let us have your thoughts.

he group meets on the second Tuesday in the month, in the side room at the village hall, 2.00 pm, when we enjoy refreshments and lively discussion about a wide range of books.

March: 'The Enchanted April' by Elizabeth von Arnim

We decided to celebrate April, sunshine and wisteria, by reading the book during March/ April, and also by showing the film version of the story. It was interesting to compare the two.

This 1922 novel was inspired by a month-long holiday on the Italian Riviera, and is probably the lightest of Elizabeth's novels. She set the book in the 15th century Castello Brown, which in the story becomes San Salvatore. Four dissimilar women leave 1920's rainy, grey London for a month long holiday in Italy.

At our April meeting, discussion was lively. We compared the lives of the four characters in the book with those of women today. Some liked the book, others were not so keen. The film was popular with most, it was beautifully to look at and had an excellent cast. The sunshine certainly cheered us.

Reviews:

'The film of The Enchanted April is a wonderful evocation of Elizabeth Von Arnim's book. She was a passionate gardener and it shows in her descriptions of the gardens at the castle where the ladies stayed. The film is brilliantly cast and evokes peace and relaxation which allows for the blossoming of all the characters.

If you've read the book you won't be disappointed by the film and vice versa.'

'The novel describes how four women (and their men) come together, for a month, in beautiful Portofino to somehow create a new family. It is a comedy of manners, of breaking down social barriers, of forging friendships and rekindling of forgotten love. The romantic setting of Italy and the description of the villa's garden as it goes through the fragrant floral changes is wonderfully captured by the author and it is this that makes the novel for me. The story line is perhaps now rather dated but the role of the woman in society thankfully shows us just how far we have come since the 1930's.

'I found The Enchanted April a very silly story! It was written in 1923 so set in a very different world to the one we live in today.'

The sentences were very long and often difficult to understand. A story about four ladies who did not know each other and spent a month in a medieval castle in Italy. There is a film of the book which I haven't seen - I imagine this was highly amusing!

I found it all quite ridiculous - a bit like the play The Importance of Being Earnest but I kept expecting Basil Fawlty to make an appearance at the castle! Got to love our book group - we read so many different genres!'

April: 'Three Hours' by Rosamund Lupton

This gripping thriller was popular with most, although there were flaws in the story. A lovely afternoon talking about the book.

Reviews:

'Told from the perspective of the people at the heart of a 3 hour school hostage taking, I found the storyline all a bit chaotic. However, this was probably the intention of the author as an armed school siege is hardly likely to be a structured affair.

The novel jumps between the various groups being held which made it quite difficult to empathise with any of the relatively large character list.

I did enjoy the slow build up of atmosphere and suspense and it did become gripping by the end but over all I just couldn't find my way into the story and found part of is a bit cliched. A difficult novel to write given the number of school shootings that we have witnessed over the past few years and one I was not disappointed to come to an end.'

'Three Hours - a thriller of a novel. In covering such a short space of time, it resonates with McEwan's 'Saturday' but with radically different subjects. Three Hours covers a school siege in rural Somerset. It centres on beautifully described characters of Rafi, the Syrian immigrant and his young brother; Beth - and anxious Mum; Neil - the heroic headmaster; Hannah - locked down in the library and Rosie - the forensic psychologist. The tension builds over the course of the novel. It is hard to put down as Lupton's novel makes the reader worried for the characters. There are some predictable aspects to the plot but the twist at the end surprised me. Not a novel to read if you need a lift but very well written and holds the reader to the end assuming you can bear it.'

'I found things tied up a bit too quickly and neatly at the end However, I was quite taken with the Macbeth link and especially using Dunsinane woods to confuse/confound the enemy.'

'Three Hours is one of the very best books I have read.. not an easy read, but, considering it is about a hate crime, the writing made the positive qualities of the characters in the book so plausible that I ended up feeling better for having read it. I read it in three chunks, the third was part 3 which I realised I could not read at bedtime for fear of the outcome. I really cared about the outcome.

This is a book I may have to buy for myself ... '

May: 'Sleep' by C L Taylor

Film of the Book evenings are held on the first Wednesday in the month, usually in the side room at the village hall. We realised the April and May films were going to be popular choices, so to allow for a larger audience, they were shown in the main hall. 'A Man Called Otto', starring Tom Hanks, was a big success when screened on Wednesday 3rd May. The film is based on the book 'A Man Called Ove' by Fredrick Backman, which the group read a few years ago.

Film of the book sessions have limited space, so seats need to be reserved.

If you would like information about the book group, or film of the book, please contact me on 01666 837713, email peac@globalnet.co.uk n the previous edition of Hullavington News the Hullavington WI mentioned that they are part of the John Aubrey group of local WI's. Who was John Aubrey and what was his connection with the area.

THIS EDITION : JOHN AUBREY FRS (1626 - 1697)

John Aubrey was born in 1626 in Easton Piers (Percy) near Kingston St Michael to a long established and affluent gentry family. He was initially schooled by Robert Latimer in Malmesbury where he met and befriended the famous English philosopher Thomas Hobbes.

Aubrey went on to discover the megalithic remains at Avebury. Much later the 'Aubrey holes' at Stonehenge were named after him. During his lifetime and afterwards he was recognised as being an important Antiquarian, pioneering archaeologist, natural philosopher and writer. He became a Fellow of the Royal Society in 1663 and included amongst his many friends the architect Sir Christopher Wren.

He was the author of several publications including Brief Lives. Before his death Aubrey wrote a biography of his friend Thomas Hobbes of Malmesbury. Unfortunately he lost family estate after estate due to love suits and lawsuits and finally had to part with his ancestral home at Easton Piers in 1670.

Most of his works were unpublished at his death however his manuscripts are now held in the Bodleian Library. Aubrey died in 1697 and is buried in the churchyard of St Mary Magdalen in Oxford.

John Aubrey was possibly the inventor of modern life writing and his name is remembered locally by the WI groups in the surrounding villages of Hullavington, Kington St Michael ,Kington Langley, Pewsham and Chippenham itself.

The village centre footpath network

Walk Two – Happylands Bridge – Distance: 3 miles

This month's selection from "Walks Around Hullavington" takes you down an ancient track to cross the Gauze Brook, over fields to the Happylands railway bridge and back along Hill Hayes Lane.

Go down Parsons Walk, which leaves The Street between the Hullavington Arms and the church almost opposite London House. Go through the kissing gate, cross the little stream and turn left as you enter Court Field and go along the field edge at the back of Parklands. A stile at the end brings you out into Will (or Mill) Lane almost opposite the imposing gate pillars of Oak Tree House. Turn right and follow the lane past the little wood called Priors Corner (flooding here after heavy rain). Ignore the bridleway forking left and continue past Priors Corner down the stony track, Danes Bottom Lane.

At the end of Danes Bottom Lane, enter the field ahead and cross the Gauze Brook over the stone bridge. With the hedge and small tributary stream on your right, walk uphill for about 200 yards. Turn right over the stile by the gateway into a large triangular field, The Four Shells, and proceed more steeply uphill keeping to the righthand hedge. At the top, you enter The Sands field through a gateway. Look for rabbits here – there's quite a colony and if you're lucky and quiet you might see a fox.

As you cross this field, passing to the left of the large oak tree to the pond in the right-hand corner, the small wood on the left is called Haywards Patch. Divert left for 50 yards to a gate to enter next field, Townleaze. Keeping to the hedge on your right, continue until you reach a double stile. Cross this to find the railway bridge to your right. Once in the lane, turn right and in about a mile you will be back in the village. As you descend the steep hill, note on your left Windmill Brake where pheasants are often bred and the bore hole by the Gauze Brook, which keeps the downstream stretches flowing freely when the upper reaches are dry.

As always, please remember to follow the Countryside Code and, in particular – Leave gates and property as you find them, or follow instructions on signs – Be nice, say hello, share the space – Follow the local signs and keep to marked paths – Take your litter home – Leave no trace of your visit – Always keep dogs under control and in sight – Dog poo: bag it and bin it – Enjoy your walk, have fun, make a memory.

The full set of ten walks is available on the Parish Council website. Compiled by John Greenwood and Alan Roberts in 1995, these ten walks provide an excellent introduction to our local footpaths: http://www.hullavingtonparishcouncil.org.uk/Walks_Around_Hullavington_31117.aspx

There is nothing I enjoy more than a leisurely walk round the footpaths of the village with my camera and with my friend Eric Gough just enjoying all that we see, hear and find in the Lord's creation no matter the time of year. We still feel quite proud that we discovered the 600 year old oak tree that is now recorded on the Woodland Trust web site.

I have always loved sport. For a few years I played cricket for Grittleton. For the past thirty years or so I have regularly watched Chippenham Town FC. It has given me much pleasure to watch them progress from the Western League, through the Southern Leagues, and now establish themselves in the National League South. There is something special about watching live football.

Margaret and I just love the village and have absolutely no regrets that we have spent all of our married life here. We would not change it if we could. If I could change one thing in the village it would be to have a decent play area and a playing field. Where do we go when my two grand sons want to play football? Living my life in this village and having a faith in the Lord Jesus has given me all the happiness I have needed.

IN THIS EDITION :

Marlin Mechanical

e are a small family-run garden machinery business – husband, wife and labrador! - based in the yard of the Flying Monk Brewery at working out of the old farm workshop as a sole trader. However, this year Jo has come on board, and we have taken the plunge to become a limited company!

It all started when Stewart was made redundant from his last job. While looking for the right job role, he put his experience as a heavy plant mechanic (and large collection of tools!) to use by doing a few mechanical 'odd' jobs in the local area. After being asked to fix a troublesome lawnmower and generator for someone, more and more garden machinery kept coming his way. This meant that his garage at home soon became far too small! Thankfully, we were lucky to be able to rent the old farm workshop at Bradfield Farm - a place where Stewart had his very first job after leaving school as a farm worker!

This year we have revamped our office and store to make it more welcoming, meaning it's much easier for people to spot us! And with Jo joining the business, we now have someone at the shop 7 days a week (seasonal hours will apply!) even when one of us needs to be out and about.

We offer service and repair of all powered garden equipment, from small chainsaws up to large ride-on mowers. We sell a great range of new equipment and some second hand. We supply garden machinery and agricultural spare parts to order as well as some welding supplies and gasses.

Any questions, come and have a natter as we always love to help, especially if it involves a chat!

Meet the Villager....

A light hearted chat with a local about their time in Hullavington... lets meet...

.... David Hunt (of the brilliant 'then & now's)

I have lived in the village for 54 years. I grew up on the Isle of Wight but in 1961 came to Chippenham to Westinghouse Brake and Signal Company to do a Student Engineering Apprenticeship. I remained with the Company on completion of my apprenticeship and in 1966 met Margaret who also worked at Westinghouse. We married in Chippenham in May 1969.

In February of that year we realised that we needed somewhere to live after our marriage and so went into an estate office in Chippenham. I seem to remember that we felt we wanted to live outside of Chippenham and so we were advised that there was a semi- detached house in Hullavington that was being built and should be complete in a couple of months or so. We came out to Hullavington, which was probably my first visit to the village, looked at the house and decided it was for us. We have never regretted it. We paid the grand sum of £3780 for the house. We moved into the house a week after our wedding. We had a bed and bedroom furniture which was a wedding present from my parents and downstairs we had a cooker and a borrowed table and two chairs. A neighbour quickly loaned us two comfortable easy chairs and we had a radio. As the years followed we slowly furnished the house.

Our first son Michael was born in 1973 and was followed by Stephen in 1975. They both attended the village school and then Malmesbury. Although neither lives in Hullavinton now they both say what a happy child hood they had growing up in the village. They enjoyed the freedom to roam the countryside around the village and I must admit we never felt any concerns. Yes, Steve fell into the Gauze Brook once or twice, but Mike was usually to be found on the school playing field playing football and cricket.

In 1978 I attended my first Hullavington School Parents Association meeting. It was the AGM and at the end of it I found I was Chairman! I enjoyed my years working with the Association, not all as Chairman, first when the head master was Jeff Burgess and then Graham Priest. I am still in touch with Graham today. Margaret and I were members of Mount Zion Church and from the early 1980s the church began to meet in the village hall. In 1986 I joined the Village Hall Management Committee as the representative for Mount Zion and so began a thirty five year period on that committee.

I thoroughly enjoyed my working life at Westinghouse but that sadly ended in redundancy in 1999. However, I found employment with Securicor Information Systems at Marshfield and had eight happy years there leading up to retirement in 2008. The whole of the time I was at Westinghouse I shared transport from the village and particularly enjoyed the years sharing with Eric Gough, Alan Roberts, Bill Mathews and Malcolm Mace.

Equally I have enjoyed retirement and soon realised the truth of the statement 'how did I have time to go to work'. We have been blessed with two grand sons, Toby in 2008 and Oliver in 2010, and we did our share in looking after them one day a week before school age, then collecting them from Junior School on a Wednesday, and even though they are both at senior school now, we still meet them in Nero's Coffee shop after school on a Wednesday.

I have always loved photography and rarely go anywhere without my camera. I have particularly enjoyed photographing the trains through the area over the past fifty years and also the changing village itself. For many years I took slide photographs but eventually in 2005 bought my first digital camera. I was reluctant to change at the time but now I enjoy the freedom to take as many photos as I like and have immediate access to them.

PAST TIMES by Various Villagers

HER ARE MANY LOVELY VILLAGERS WHO HAVE SOME WONDERFUL MEMORIES FROM TIMES GONE BY, SOME MORE RECENT THAN OTHERS BUT ALL IMPORTANT TO BE RECORDED FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS AND ENJOYED BY US RIGHT NOW!

Our first was delivered, hand written and through the letter box by Joan Lindsey....

" When reading 'parish news' recently, I saw that over in Stanton St Quintin they had been invited to our church to see if the outside space could be made more wildlife friendly. May I share with you a memory that will always be with me from my early time in Hullavington ...

When walking past the churchyard one early summer evening, the lowering sun was illuminating the many wild flowers and grasses, highlighting all the flying, flut-tering buzzing creatures over and around them along with the birds that came to feed, it was a truly beautiful scene, the churchyard was alive.

At that time the Churchyard and parsons walk were kept in order and flowerful by Mr Charlie Tanner and Mr Nick Neal using hand tools (Mrs Neal Laundered and blue starched the white altar linen and polished the pews) From the snowdrops in the Meredith Brown corner to the last hoary plantain in late summer there were always many wild flowers with their delightful names. The growth was cut after seeding, cleared up when nature took over for the winter until the snowdrops re-turned and the cycle begins again. It never looked untidy, just natural. Perhaps the wildflowers are still there waiting for some encouragement to bloom again"
